

---

2. Gather the personal information you need to register.

---

When you register for the THEA Test, you will be asked to provide the following information:

---

Name
Address
Daytime telephone number (required for Internet registration)
Social security number (or identification number assigned to you by your institution or Evaluation Systems)
Date of birth
Ethnicity (optional)
Gender (optional)
E-mail address (required for Internet registration)

---

Examinees will be allowed to use four-function (+, −, ×, ÷) nonprogrammable calculators (with square root [ $\sqrt{\quad}$ ] and percent [%] keys). Examinees who wish to use a calculator for the THEA Test will need to bring their own calculator to the test administration.

By way of illustration, but not as an exclusive list, you may NOT bring with you or use during the test administration any of the following types of calculators:

- scientific or graphing calculators
- pocket organizers
- handheld, laptop, or notebook computers
- electronic writing pads or pen-input devices
- calculators with an alphanumeric keyboard
- calculators with paper tape
- calculators that make noise or “talk”
- calculators with electrical cords
- business or financial planning calculators
- calculator watches
- calculators with rulers

You will not be allowed to bring or use a calculator manual or to share a calculator with another examinee.

If you use a calculator with a large or raised display that might be visible to other examinees, you may be seated at the discretion of the proctor.

Testing staff will not have calculators or batteries available.